MISSOURI JUDICIAL REPORT
FY 1981-1982

PREPARED BY:
OFFICE OF STATE COURTS ADMINISTRATOR
1105 REAR SOUTHWEST BOULEVARD
JEFFERSON CITY, MISSOURI 65101

Supreme Court of Missouri
Jefferson City
ROBERT T. DONNELLY, CHIEF JUSTICE

TO HIS EXCELLENCY, THE GOVERNOR, MEMBERS OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY AND MEMBERS OF THE JUDICIARY:

On behalf of the State of Missouri's Judicial Branch of government, I hereby transmit the annual statistical report. This report contains data and statistics of the caseload activity of the Supreme Court, Court of Appeals, and the Circuit Courts from July 1, 1981 through June 30, 1982.

This year, in keeping with our commitment to the improvement of our data processing system, the Supreme Court has reappointed its State Court Data Processing Committee to provide recommendations on refinements in the system and to analyze and evaluate the information considered by them to be of greatest benefit to the courts, to legislators, and to the public.

Much progress has been made over the past year in the areas of collection and dissemination of information concerning the workload of the judiciary. The Western District Court of Appeals is presently operating that court on the state judicial computer. This system is their primary case record keeping method replacing manual paper-processing systems of the past. Implementation of the appellate system has begun in both the Supreme Court and the Eastern District Court of Appeals and will be operational in all appellate courts by the end of this fiscal year.

This annual report is the result of combined efforts of circuit clerks and division clerks throughout the State of Missouri, the clerk of the Court of Appeals, the Supreme Court Clerk, and the staff of the Office of State Courts Administrator. The intent of this report is to provide useful information regarding the courts of the state. We hope that it will be useful to you.

Respectfully submitted,

Robert T. Donnelly
Chief Justice of the Supreme Court and Presiding Officer of the Judicial Conference of Missouri

FOREWORD

The information contained in this report indicates that the judicial system in the State of Missouri is meeting the challenges of increased filings with disposition-to-filing ratios that are higher than ever before recorded. All levels of the judiciary reflect remarkable efforts in meeting ever growing caseloads. During this fiscal year there were 751,788 matters filed in the courts in the State of Missouri (excluding municipal cases filed before municipal judges) and 711,588 matters were disposed.

In spite of growing workloads, no new clerical positions have been authorized to meet the expanding needs since clerks became state employees on July 1, 1981. Judges and clerks are to be commended for having processed the vast number of cases through the system while assuming the duties necessary to assist the Circuit Court Budget Committee in the development of the weighted workload measures, additional duties mandated by new legislation, and responsibilities for implementation of new procedures.

This report is possible only through the efforts of the many who have so conscientiously provided this office with the information necessary to compile reliable statistics. Thanks to the Circuit Court Budget Committee definitions have been provided that lend uniformity to the reporting process. The reorganization of the State Court Data Processing Committee is a good omen. This has been a good year - a productive year for the judiciary. The cooperation and assistance of each of the courts, of both judges and clerks, is greatly appreciated.

YEAR IN REVIEW

YEAR IN REVIEW

Changes in the Courts: On July 1, 1981, The Honorable Robert T. Donnelly assumed the position of Chief Justice of the Supreme Court with his term to extend through June 30, 1983. Judge Donnelly succeeded The Honorable John E. Bardgett who completed his two-year term as Chief Justice on June 30, 1981. Judge Donnelly has served on the Supreme Court since 1965 and was Chief Justice from July 1, 1973 through June 30, 1975. Judge Donnelly is one of only four judges to twice serve as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of Missouri.

During the year, three Supreme Court justices announced their intentions to step down from the court. Justice Robert Seiler and Justice J.P. Morgan announced their retirements while Justice John Bardgett announced his resignation to return to private practice in St. Louis. Under state law the governor fills each vacancy on the bench from a panel of three qualified candidates selected by the nonpartisan Appellate Judicial Commission.

The last Supreme Court Commissioner, Alden A. Stockard, retired in April 1982. As a result a new judgeship was created in the Eastern District Court of Appeals under provisions of a 1970 Constitutional Amendment.

On July 1, 1981, 1,250 deputy and division clerks in Missouri's Circuit Court were transferred to the state payroll. Preparation for the transfers, which began in 1978, was completed during the 1980-1981 fiscal year.

As a result of legislation passed in FY 1980-1981, a 44th Judicial Circuit was created effective January 1, 1982. The new circuit is comprised of Douglas, Ozark and Wright Counties. Clinton County was moved from the 5th Judicial Circuit to the 43rd Judicial Circuit and provisions were made for a second circuit judge in the 43rd Circuit effective January 1, 1983.

Supreme Court Leadership: Under the Supreme Court's direction and leadership, changes in Missouri law are constantly being reviewed and evaluated to improve the court system throughout the state. The court's committees on patterned instructions meet several times each year to discuss and recommend changes in instructions to be given to juries. These changes are necessitated by court rulings and legislation. The rules of practice and procedure are also under constant review of the court's committee on rules. The court has appointed a committee to help the Circuit Court discuss, develop and implement local court rules. All of these committees, whose members donate their time, provide invaluable assistance to the court and to the improvement of the judicial system.

With the inception of a state-funded court system and the limitations of funds the Circuit Court Budget Committee realized the need to develop an improved objective method for determining clerk staffing needs across the state. The committee sought to improve the staffing guidelines by developing a relative case weighting system that gives more credit to those cases which take more clerk time and by considering other responsibilities such as child support.

The results of a statewide survey and extensive court studies participated in by clerks throughout the state allowed the committee to revise the staffing guidelines. The guidelines were based on a weighted workload per full time employee for each court division in the state and are used in evaluating all requests for additional personnel or an increase in hours.

A new probate record keeping rule was adopted by the Supreme Court that specified uniform and simplified procedures for the maintenance of probate records. The new rule, effective January 1, 1982, was the result of the work and recommendations of the Probate Records Committee.

Judicial Workloads: Caseload activity in both the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals increased from the previous fiscal year. Total Supreme Court activity was up by 5 percent for a total of 1,735 appeals, writs, original proceedings and motions filed. The number of appeals, writs and motions filed in Missouri's Court of Appeals exceeded 10,000 for the first time.

Almost 740,000 cases were filed in the circuit, juvenile, associate circuit and probate divisions of the Circuit Court. The trend over the past several years shows increases in each of these divisions. In addition, it is estimated that at least 300,000 cases were filed into the municipal divisions presided over by municipal judges during the fiscal year.

As caseloads increase, the demands upon Missouri's judges and court personnel increase. Efforts are continually being made throughout the court system to meet the increasing workloads.

Financial Review: In FY 1981-1982 appropriations to operate the Missouri judicial branch were approximately $44.7 million. Beginning July 1, 1981, the responsibility for the salaries of 1,250 deputy and division clerks was transferred from county to state funding. The legislation mandating the transfer required an increase in appropriations for the judiciary by about $14 million from the previous fiscal year. The judicial appropriations make up 2.1 percent of the over $2 billion appropriated from general revenue for the operation of state government.

Approximately 74 percent of the funds appropriated to the judiciary was used for the operation of the Circuit Court System. The Supreme Court, the three districts of the Court of Appeals, the State Courts Administrator's Office, the Appellate Judicial Commission and the Commission on Retirement, Removal and Discipline combined to make up 16 percent of the appropriation. The remaining 10 percent was used to fund the Public Defender Program.

Legislative News: Several of the 136 measures passed by the 81st General Assembly during FY 1981-1982 will have a substantial effect upon Missouri's judiciary. Senate Bill 497 establishes a variety of provisions relating to the administration of justice in Missouri. The act increases the dollar limit on the jurisdiction of the Small Claims Court from $500 to $1,000; creates a Judicial Finance Commission to mediate budget disputes between county governing bodies and the Circuit Court; upgrades statutory salaries in the judicial branch; and increases court filing fees. Also, the bill establishes a state commission to study and recommend minimum standards for detention facilities.

House Bill 1169 creates the Office of the State Public Defender as an independent department of the judicial branch giving the Public Defender Commission the authority to establish local or regional public defender offices; to contract with private attorneys to perform defense services; and to set standards of eligibility for representation. The bill also provides for the recoupment of funds if the defendant becomes able to meet all or part of the cost for legal services.

Subject to approval by voters in the 1982 general election in November, House Joint Resolution No. 57 removes from the Supreme Court the sole jurisdiction over cases where the punishment imposed is life imprisonment.

Senate Bill 468 revises the methods by which maintenance and child support obligations are established and enforced. The act requires circuit clerks to act as trustee for the collection and disbursement of child support monies upon request. Additionally, procedures are created which allow the Division of Family Services to administratively initiate the process of establishing support obligations when no court order exists. The act allows the Division of Family Services to contract with private attorneys for legal actions necessary to establish or enforce support obligations in cases where the prosecuting attorney has not acted.

Senate Bill 513 restructures many of the laws and reporting procedures of clerks relating to the operation of a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol or other drugs.

Circuit Court Administration: A presiding judge in each circuit exercises general administrative authority over all divisions of the Circuit Court. Local court rules have been updated by judicial circuits to encourage the efficient operation of the Circuit Court. An increasing number of circuit division cases are being heard by associate circuit judges upon assignment by the presiding judge or upon automatic assignment provisions of local court rules. It is estimated that at least 23 percent of the circuit division civil cases and 12 percent of the circuit division criminal cases formerly within the sole jurisdiction of circuit judges were disposed by associate circuit judges during the fiscal year.

Judicial Training: Under a grant from the Division of Highway Safety, Missouri's judges had the opportunity to attend alcohol and drug treatment programs to increase their knowledge and understanding of the problems faced by many of the defendants brought before them. The federally funded training seminars, held at private rehabilitation clinics, were designed to acquaint judges with the types of rehabilitation programs available to assist persons with an alcohol or drug problem. Sixty judges, or about 20 percent of the circuit and associate circuit judges in Missouri, attended the unique four-day seminars.

As part of the ongoing effort to provide judicial personnel with needed training programs, a variety of seminars were sponsored by the Supreme Court Training Committee. The Missouri College for Trial Judges provided the opportunity for judges to increase their knowledge in instructing juries, sentencing, domestic relations, youth services, along with providing updates on criminal law.

Four regional probate seminars were held for both judges and clerks on the new probate code, and ten regional clerk seminars were conducted. The Clerk Training Seminar included training on financial systems in cooperation with the State Auditor's Office, sound recording, record keeping and legislative updates.

Certification courses for Missouri's nonlawyer municipal judges and a seminar for new judges were also held during the year. In all, over 730 judges and clerks attended instate training programs throughout the year.

Services to the Judiciary: Due to the improved administration of the court system, greater use has been made of judicial transfers and assignments. Through assignment of cases by the presiding judge and through judicial transfers ordered by the Supreme Court, caseloads are more equally distributed and cases are heard on a more timely basis. In addition, the judicial transfer allows for a judge who is disqualified to be replaced. During FY 1981-1982 approximately 1,800 Supreme Court transfer orders were prepared

Upon formal request the Central Transcribing Service provides typewritten transcripts of cases heard on assignment through electronic sound recording. Two hundred seventeen transcripts were prepared by the Central Transcribing Service which accounted for an estimated 31,144 pages of prepared transcripts. Approximately 90 percent of the transcripts were appeals (194). The remainder were primarily guilty pleas, sentencings and special requests. The 31,144 pages prepared represents an increase of 74 percent over the 17,867 pages prepared the previous year.

In order to assist court clerks with the tasks of case processing and record keeping, a court clerk handbook was developed and distributed throughout the courts. The handbook is a step-by-step manual that includes sections on record keeping; civil, criminal and municipal procedures; small claims; child support; costs and fees and a glossary of court terms. The handbook was developed by a Court Clerk Handbook Committee made up of experienced court personnel from throughout the state, reviewed by judges and made possible by staff of the Office of State Courts Administrator. An additional section covering probate matters will be developed during FY 1982-1983.

Fifteen courts took advantage of 11 rotary and 2 planetary microfilm cameras during the year to reduce the amount of space necessary for the storage of records. The cameras are loaned to courts on a rotating basis and are available upon request. A film processing service is also provided through the Office of the Secretary of State in conjunction with the microfilming program. For the courts that used the processing service, it is estimated that approximately 960,000 documents were placed on microfilm during the fiscal year.

In order to assist in caseload management, a number of presiding judges and circuit clerks are receiving civil and criminal pending dockets on a monthly basis. The reports are generated through the Statewide Judicial Information System and include individual case histories. The docket and case histories, along with other statistical reports, are available to court personnel upon request.

A substantial amount of progress has been made in upgrading the automated appellate record keeping system. Currently, the Western Appellate District uses the system, and the Supreme Court and the Eastern and Southern districts implementation will be completed by the end of calendar year 1982.

THE JUDICIARY

THE JUDICIARY IN MISSOURI

An Overview

The judiciary in Missouri is comprised of the Supreme Court, the Court of Appeals and the Circuit Court. The Supreme Court, the highest court in the state, has exclusive jurisdiction over numerous matters as defined by the Missouri Constitution. In addition, issues that are not within the exclusive jurisdiction of the state's highest court may be transferred to the Supreme Court from the Court of Appeals. Aside from its judicial responsibilities, the Supreme Court also has responsibility for administering Missouri's court system. The Supreme Court is located in Jefferson City, the state capital, and there are seven Supreme Court judges.

The Court of Appeals has jurisdiction over those cases that are not within the exclusive appellate jurisdiction of the Supreme Court. The Court of Appeals is composed of three districts: the Eastern District, which sits in St. Louis; the Western District, which sits in Kansas City; and the Southern District, which sits in both Springfield and Poplar Bluff. Missouri has 32 Court of Appeals judges.

The Circuit Court, Missouri's trial court, has original jurisdiction over all cases, both civil and criminal. This court has multiple divisions, each designed to hear specific types of matters. The State of Missouri has 44 judicial circuits, each composed of one to five counties or the City of St. Louis. There are 634 judges, including 332 municipal judges, who work in Missouri's Circuit Court.

The Supreme Court, the Court of Appeals and the Circuit Court are described in greater detail throughout the remainder of this section.

MISSOURI SUPREME COURT

The Missouri Supreme Court is established by Article V of the Missouri Constitution. Section 1 of that Article vests the judicial power of the state in a Supreme Court, a Court of Appeals and a Circuit Court. The decisions of the Supreme Court, the highest court in the state, are controlling in all other courts. The Supreme Court has extensive responsibilities in two areas: judicial proceedings and administration of the state courts. It is also responsible for administering the Missouri Bar and for promulgating general rules relating to practice, procedure and pleadings in the courts.

Jurisdiction: Article V, Section 3 gives the Supreme Court exclusive appellate jurisdiction in all cases involving the validity of a United States treaty or statute, the validity of a Missouri statute or constitutional provision, the construction of the revenue laws of Missouri, the title to any state office, and in all cases where the punishment imposed is death or life imprisonment. The Supreme Court also has authority to issue certain motions and writs. Cases which are not within the Supreme Court's exclusive appellate jurisdiction may be transferred to the Supreme Court from the Court of Appeals when important issues warrant a decision by the state's highest court, when an opinion in the Court of Appeals appears contrary to a previous decision of the Supreme Court or Court of Appeals, when an existing law needs to be re-examined or when a Supreme Court rule so directs.

Administration: In addition to its judicial responsibilities, the Supreme Court must administer the judicial branch of Missouri's state government. Under Article V, Section 4 of the Missouri Constitution, the Supreme Court is vested with supervisory authority over all Missouri courts. The Supreme Court promulgates general rules relating to practice, procedure and pleading in all state courts and administrative tribunals. The Supreme Court has also adopted a number of administrative rules which establish a Statewide Judicial Information System; establish a uniform record keeping system for the maintenance of circuit, juvenile, associate and probate records and judgments; provide for procedures for the use of electronic sound recording equipment as a means of capturing the record and for the preparation of transcripts of the recordings; establish practices and procedures regarding operation of the courts and the handling of various types of cases; and establish a Circuit Court Personnel System.

Further responsibilities of the Supreme Court involve approving standard jury instructions and making temporary transfers of judicial personnel from one court or district to another as the administration of justice requires. Upon assignment by the Supreme Court, any judge is eligible to sit temporarily on any court.

must have been a United States citizen for 15 years, must have been a qualified Missouri voter for 9 years, must be between 30 and 70 years of age and must be licensed to practice law in the State of Missouri.

Supreme Court judges are appointed pursuant to the Missouri plan for the nonpartisan selection of judges. When a vacancy occurs, the governor appoints a Supreme Court judge from a list of three names submitted by the seven-member nonpartisan Appellate Judicial Commission. This commission is composed of one Supreme Court justice chosen by the Supreme Court, three lawyers selected by the Bar and three nonlawyer members who are appointed by the governor.

Following the first 12 months in office, a Supreme Court judge stands for retention at the next general election. If retained in office, the judge serves a 12-year term and may again stand for retention at the end of each term.

Chief Justice: Article V, Section 8 of the Missouri Constitution establishes the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court as the chief administrative officer of the Missouri judicial system. The Chief Justice is selected by the court en banc and, traditionally, this responsibility has been rotated among the judges of the Supreme Court with each judge serving a term of two years.

The Chief Justice represents the Missouri judiciary in national organizations such as the Conference of Chief Justices and the National Center for State Courts and serves on several internal committees. The Chief Justice and the other Supreme Court judges may serve individually as members of committees appointed by the Supreme Court.

As the chief administrative officer, subject to the supervisory authority of the Supreme Court, the Chief Justice works directly with the Clerk of the Supreme Court and the State Courts Administrator.

Internal Administration: The Clerk of the Supreme Court and his staff manage the court's judicial proceedings functions. Members of a central legal research section provide assistance in processing the large number of appeals and writs filed each year in the Supreme Court. The clerk's office also publishes the Appellate Court Opinion Summary and Pending Issues Digest on a monthly basis. These publications provide information to judges and attorneys on all Supreme Court and Court of Appeals cases from the filing of briefs to final disposition.

The Office of the Supreme Court Clerk serves as liaison between the court and those committees designed to aid the court in formulating rules and instructions; provides staff support to the Missouri Judicial Conference, a statutory organization of all the state's judges and commissioners which serves as an advisory body to the state legislature; and is responsible for the Supreme Court Library. The library provides research services and materials to the Supreme Court and other individuals and agencies across the state. Pursuant to S.B. 497 whose provisions became effective in June 1982, the Clerk of the Supreme Court also provides staff support to the newly created Judicial Finance Commission. This commission will mediate budget disputes between the county governing body and the Circuit Court. In addition, the Clerk of the Supreme Court serves as the ex-officio treasurer of the Missouri Bar and is the secretary to the State Board of Law Examiners.

Administration of State Courts: Since 1970, Article V of the Missouri Constitution has granted the Supreme Court the authority to appoint the State Courts Administrator to aid in the administration of the state's courts. In February 1981, a revised Supreme Court Rule 82.03, relating to the duties of the State Courts Administrator, was adopted by the Supreme Court. In meeting these duties the office provides administrative and technical assistance to the court divisions throughout the state, administers programs of judicial education, processes the payment of state monies appropriated for the judicial budget and maintains the Statewide Judicial Information System. The office compiles the Annual Statistical Report, prepares requests for judicial transfers and performs other tasks required under administrative rule of the court, and prepares and submits budget estimates of the state appropriations necessary for the maintenance and operation of the judicial system.

In addition, the office regularly provides to the courts summaries of legislation affecting the judiciary; it develops training programs for clerical personnel; it maintains and places microfilm cameras for use by the courts in microfilming their records; it provides staff and support services for various administrative committees of the Supreme Court; and it assists in the preparation of fiscal notes which help assess the financial impact of proposed legislation.

MISSOURI COURT OF APPEALS

The Court of Appeals, Missouri's intermediate appellate court, is established by Article V, Section 1 of the State Constitution. This court is divided by Chapter 477 RSMo into three districts: the Eastern District, the Western District, and the Southern District.

Jurisdiction: The Court of Appeals has general appellate jurisdiction in all cases except those within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Supreme Court as specified in Article V, Section 3 of the Missouri Constitution. The Court of Appeals also has original jurisdiction over remedial writs.

Each district of the Court of Appeals has appellate jurisdiction over cases which arise in the counties of that district. In addition, each district of the Court of Appeals has general superintending control over all courts and tribunals in the jurisdiction. The Eastern District sits in St. Louis City and has appellate jurisdiction over those cases arising in 25 eastern counties and in the City of St. Louis. By special rule, the Eastern District has also held sessions in Hannibal and Cape Girardeau. The Western District sits in Kansas City and hears cases which originate in 45 counties of western Missouri. The Southern District holds sessions in both Springfield and Poplar Bluff and has appellate jurisdiction over cases which arise in 44 counties of southern Missouri.

Judicial Qualifications and Selection: Appellate court judges must be at least 30 years of age and must have been United States citizens for at least 15 years and Missouri voters for at least 9 years preceding selection. They must also be residents of the district in which they serve.

Appellate judges are nominated by the nonpartisan Appellate Judicial Commission and appointed by the governor. If approved by the voters at the first general election after their first 12 months in office, they serve 12-year terms. The judges in each district elect a chief judge to serve as the administrative officer for a term fixed by the district.

As a result of the retirement of two Supreme Court Commissioners which became effective during the 1981-1982 fiscal year, two new judgeships were added in the Court of Appeals, bringing the total to 32. As provided by Section 477.152 RSMo the number of judgeships increased to 11 in the Western District and to 14 in the Eastern District. The Southern District has seven judges.

Court of Appeals judges are assisted by trained law clerks who are attorneys. Within funding limits established by the General Assembly the court employs other nonjudicial personnel to aid in the handling of the workload.

MISSOURI CIRCUIT COURT

On January 2, 1979, all former courts of limited and general trial jurisdiction were organized into a single trial court as part of Missouri's unified judicial system. Article V, Section 1 of Missouri's Constitution establishes Missouri's Circuit Court as the only trial court in the state. This court has jurisdiction over all cases—criminal and civil. Section 14 of Article V also permits the Circuit Court to issue and determine original remedial writs.

The Circuit Court is comprised of the circuit division; the juvenile division to hear juvenile matters; the associate circuit division to hear matters previously heard by magistrates; the probate division to hear probate matters; the municipal division to hear local ordinance violations; and other divisions as established by local court rule.

The Missouri Constitution provides that those cases originally filed in the municipal and associate circuit divisions (cases within the jurisdiction of the former magistrate and municipal courts) be reviewed through the process of filing an application for a trial de novo. The implementing legislation requires that a request for a jury trial be certified directly to the presiding judge for assignment to be heard on the record, thereby eliminating the possibility of a trial being heard twice by a jury.

In addition, the implementing legislation provides under Subsection 2 of Section 517.520 RSMo that a case originally filed before an associate circuit judge may be certified to the presiding judge for assignment to be heard on the record under certain conditions. As a result of these procedures, more cases are now heard initially on the record, and these cases are reviewed by direct appeal to Missouri's Court of Appeals.

Jurisdiction: Within the divisions of the Circuit Court there are three levels of jurisdiction: the circuit division, the associate circuit division and the municipal division. The circuit division has original jurisdiction over all cases whether criminal or civil. Circuit judges may hear and determine all cases and matters within the jurisdiction of the Circuit Court.

Associate circuit judges may hear civil matters that do not exceed $5,000, misdemeanor or infraction matters, and felony matters prior to the filing of the information. Associate circuit judges may also hear municipal ordinance violations in municipalities that have less than 400,000 people and have no municipal judge; juvenile matters in counties with less than 70,000 people; and matters filed in small claims court as prescribed in Chapter 482 of Missouri's revised statutes. In probate matters, associate circuit judges have general equitable jurisdiction.

In addition, associate circuit judges may hear uncontested marriage dissolutions, uncontested motions to modify dissolution agreements, uncontested proceedings for the approval of the settlement of suits involving claims by persons under 18 years of age, uncontested actions involving title to real estate, as well as proceedings for change of name of a person. By agreement of the parties, by assignment of the presiding judge or by local court rule, an associate circuit judge may hear any matter pending in the Circuit Court.

Finally, Article V, Section 6 of the Missouri Constitution provides that any judge shall be eligible to sit temporarily on any court. This provision allows associate circuit judges to hear any case or class of cases upon assignment by the Supreme Court.

The third jurisdictional division of the Circuit Court, the municipal division, hears only municipal ordinance violations. The governing body of any municipality with a population of less than 400,000 may elect to have an associate circuit judge hear municipal matters in the first instance, and many municipalities have chosen that option.

Judges of the Circuit Court: The Constitution of the State of Missouri authorizes three types of judges in Missouri's Circuit Court—circuit judges, associate circuit judges and municipal judges.

As of January 2, 1979, Article V of Missouri's Constitution established as circuit judges those judges who were circuit judges prior to that date, probate judges in counties with more than 65,000 people, and judges of the former St. Louis Court of Criminal Corrections. Section 15 of the judicial article requires that there be at least one circuit judge in each of Missouri's 44 judicial circuits. Currently 26 of the 44 circuits have only one circuit judge and the remaining 18 circuits have from 2 to 24 circuit judges. In FY 1981-1982 there were 132 circuit judges in the State of Missouri.

The second type of judge established by Missouri's Constitution is the associate circuit judge. On January 2, 1979, former magistrate judges and probate ex-officio magistrate judges in counties with less than 65,000 inhabitants became associate circuit judges. The judicial article mandates that there be at least one resident associate circuit judge in each county and that the number of associate circuit judges be authorized according to the county populations. In FY 1981-1982 there were 170 associate circuit judges and more than half had jurisdiction over both associate and probate cases.

The third type of judge in Missouri's circuit courts is the municipal judge. Municipalities with 400,000 or more people must establish municipal divisions over which a municipal judge presides. Communities of less than 400,000 may establish municipal divisions to hear ordinance violations, or the municipality may request that these matters be heard through the associate circuit division of the Circuit Court. During FY 1981-1982, there were 330 municipal judges presiding over 373 municipal divisions in municipalities that have elected to provide through local ordinance a municipal judge. Two municipalities with a population of more than 400,000 also have municipal judges. One hundred thirty-eight of the municipal judges are attorneys and 194 are non-attorneys.

Probate and juvenile commissioners, possessing the same qualifications as circuit judges, may be appointed to assist with the probate and juvenile workload. A probate commissioner may be appointed by the judge of any probate division in a county of more than 400,000 residents. In each first class county having a charter form of government and in the City of St. Louis, a majority of the circuit judges, en banc, may appoint one or two juvenile commissioners. During FY 1981-1982 there were two probate commissioners and five juvenile commissioners, each serving four-year terms.

Judicial Qualifications: The Constitution of Missouri establishes the terms and qualifications of circuit, associate circuit and municipal judges.

To qualify for the six-year term of circuit judge a person must have been a United States citizen for ten years, a qualified Missouri voter for three years, and a resident of the circuit for one year. The person must be between 30 and 70 years of age and must be licensed to practice law in Missouri.

Associate circuit judges serve four-year terms. An associate circuit judge must be a qualified Missouri voter, a resident of the county in which he or she presides, an attorney licensed to practice law in Missouri, and must be between the ages of 25 and 70.

A municipal judge must be between the ages of 21 and 75, must be a Missouri resident and must meet other criteria as established by ordinance or charter. If the municipality in which the judge serves has a population of 7,500 or more, the judge must be an attorney. If the municipality has less than 7,500 people, a judge who is not an attorney must, within six months of appointment, complete a special course of instruction prescribed by the Supreme Court. The term of a municipal judge is decided by the municipality but may not be less than two years.

Judicial Selection Process: Circuit and associate circuit judges are either elected in the circuit or county in which they are to serve or they are selected through Missouri's nonpartisan selection plan. Municipal judges are elected or appointed according to the manner prescribed by municipal ordinance or charter.

In 39 of Missouri's 44 judicial circuits the circuit and associate circuit judges are elected on a partisan ticket. Five circuits—Circuit 6 (Platte County), Circuit 7 (Clay County), Circuit 16 (Jackson County), Circuit 21 (St. Louis County) and Circuit 22 (St. Louis City)—use the nonpartisan selection plan for the 102 circuit and associate circuit judges serving in these circuits.

Under the nonpartisan method, circuit and associate circuit judges are appointed by the governor from a list of three names submitted by the appropriate Circuit Judicial Commission. Each five-member commission includes the chief judge of the appellate district, two lawyers elected by members of the Bar residing in the judicial circuit and two lay persons from the judicial circuit who are selected by the governor. If a majority of the electorate vote for a judge's retention in the first general election after his or her first 12 months in office, the judge serves a full six-year (circuit judge) or four-year (associate circuit judge) term.

Presiding Judges: Article V, Section 15(3) of the Missouri Constitution, adopted by the voters in 1976, creates the position of presiding judge in each judicial circuit. Subject to the authority of the Supreme Court and provisions of the Constitution and Subsection 2 of Section 478.240 RSMo, the presiding judge has general administrative authority over all judicial and nonjudicial court personnel in the circuit. Specific responsibilities include preparation of the circuit budget, record keeping, space management, supervision of municipal courts, assignment of judges within the circuit, administration of local court rules, and coordination of court activities within the circuit.

To improve the administration of Missouri's Circuit Court and to assist the presiding judge in carrying out these responsibilities, the circuit judges of a circuit may adopt local court rules. The court rules may address issues such as centralized or divisional case filings; cases or classes of cases which are heard by associate circuit judges; other filing, docketing and assignment procedures; and provisions for maintaining court records.

Finally, to facilitate the management of a circuit's caseload, the presiding judge has the authority to assign judges to hear cases that may be outside their usual jurisdiction and to transfer nonjudicial personnel anywhere in the circuit. Assignments of cases to judges can be made either on a case-by-case or class-of-case basis. Among the types of cases that are being assigned on a regular basis to associate circuit judges are those involving noncontested dissolutions, adult abuse, child support and hardship driving privileges.

Clerks of the Circuit Court: The responsibility for maintaining the records of the Circuit Court fall primarily to the circuit, deputy, division and municipal clerks.

In general, circuit clerks are responsible for all court records except those of the probate, associate and municipal divisions. With small exception, there is one circuit clerk in each county and the City of St. Louis. In Jackson County, a court administrator, selected in accordance with the county charter, serves in lieu of a circuit clerk. Marion County has two circuit clerks, one in Hannibal and one in Palmyra.

Circuit clerks (with the exception of the Circuit Clerk in St. Louis County) are elected by the voters of their counties or the City of St. Louis, and their salaries are paid by the state. The Circuit Clerk in St. Louis County is selected as provided in the county charter. All circuit clerks may, within limits established by the Circuit Court Personnel System, appoint one or more deputies to assist them with their duties. In some counties, the circuit clerk also has recording functions and is called the circuit clerk ex-officio recorder of deeds.

In general, division clerks maintain the records of the associate and probate divisions. Each is appointed by an associate or probate judge under whose authority he or she serves. Approximately 1,250 deputy and division clerks became state employees on July 1, 1981, the beginning of the 1981-1982 fiscal year. Prior to that time their positions were county-funded.

Municipal clerks perform the record keeping functions in the municipal division of Missouri's Circuit Court. Each municipality involved determines the selection, tenure and compensation policies for the municipal clerks within its jurisdiction.

In addition to their case record keeping functions, clerks of Missouri's Circuit Court have responsibility for charging, collecting and disbursing large sums of money which are the result of fines, costs, fees, judgments and child support payments, as well as the maintenance of other official court records as set by statute.

STATISTICAL SUMMARY

SOME HIGHLIGHTS FROM THE STATISTICAL SECTION

SUPREME COURT

- In the past four years, total filings have increased by 200 matters annually
- As many as 250 appeals may be filed in FY 1982-1983
- 3/4 of the appeals disposed were by opinion
- Writ filings increased 29 percent and dispositions increased 37 percent

COURT OF APPEALS

- Appeals filed increased 40 percent in 3 years
- Appeal filings reached all-time highs in FY 1981-1982, and appeal dispositions increased proportionate to filings
- As many as 440 writs could be filed in FY 1982-1983
- Almost 60 percent of the writs filed were writs of prohibition

JUVENILE

- For the first time since FY 1975-1976 juvenile dispositions exceeded filings for a disposition to filing ratio of 1.02

CIRCUIT COURT DIVISION

- A projected 118,000 civil and criminal cases may be filed in FY 1982-1983
- Civil filings have grown dramatically over the past ten years
- The disposition to filing ratio was the highest in four years
- Most civil cases last year were disposed by trial of the issues
- 2/3 of the civil cases disposed were domestic relations cases
- Trials by court have almost doubled as a manner of disposition in criminal cases since the mid-70's

ASSOCIATE DIVISION

- Almost 600,000 cases were filed into the associate circuit division
- The disposition to filing ratio climbed to .94, the fourth straight year the associate circuit division has improved its disposition to filing ratio
- There has been an increase in associate circuit division filings of 22 percent since FY 1978-1979

PROBATE DIVISION

- The trend from 1977-1978 to the present has shown an increase in both total estate filings and dispositions
- Changes in the Missouri probate code may have decreased the filing of decedents' estates and increased the filing of small estate affidavits

STATISTICAL SUMMARY

The 1981-1982 fiscal year was a busy one for all levels of Missouri's Judiciary. Total activity in the Supreme Court, including appeals, writs, motions, and original proceedings, was at an all-time high. Though the number of appeals was down from the previous fiscal year, it was in keeping with the gradually increasing level of appeal filings which occurred between FY 1974-1975 and FY 1979-1980.

The Court of Appeals both filed and disposed more appeals, writs and motions during FY 1981-1982 than it had in the previous fiscal year.

This fiscal year there were 739,744 cases filed in all divisions of the Circuit Court. These filings were comprised of 111,531 circuit division civil and criminal cases, 17,671 juvenile division cases, 596,845 associate division cases and 13,697 probate division cases. The Circuit Court disposed 699,725 cases during FY 1981-1982.

Statistics contained in this section were obtained through both manual and automated reports submitted by the clerks of the courts.

SUPREME COURT STATISTICAL SUMMARY

Total activity in Missouri's Supreme Court continued to expand this fiscal year. Since FY 1977-1978, the number of appeals, writs, original proceedings and motions filed each year with the court has increased, on the average, by about 200 matters annually.

During FY 1981-1982 there were 1,735 appeals, writs, original proceedings and motions filed in the Supreme Court, 5 percent (76) more than the number reported in FY 1980-1981. The court disposed 1,710 matters, which is 17 percent (246) more than in the previous fiscal year. As a result of the large number of dispositions, the court achieved a very high disposition to filing ratio—.99. This ratio means that the court disposed 99 percent of the number of matters that were filed with it, a noteworthy accomplishment.

APPEALS

Filings: A total of 231 appeals were filed in Missouri's highest court during the 1981-1982 fiscal year, and about half (115) of these were civil in nature. The other half (116) were criminal appeals.

FY 1982	231 (100%)	216 (100%)	166 (77%)	24 (11%)	21 (10%)	5 (2%)	216 (100%)

While fewer appeals were filed this year than in FY 1980-1981, the number filed in FY 1981-1982 is 51 (28 percent) more than the number in FY 1979-1980, 61 (36 percent) more than the number in FY 1978-1979 and 76 (49 percent) more than the number in FY 1977-1978.

With the exception of FY 1980-1981, which appears to be atypical, the number of appeals filed in Missouri's Supreme Court has remained fairly constant over the past seven years. Since FY 1977-1978, however, the number has increased gradually and as many as 250 appeals are projected to be filed during the next fiscal year.

Dispositions: The Supreme Court disposed 216 appeals during the 1981-1982 fiscal year, 18 more than in FY 1980-1981. These dispositions were fairly evenly distributed between civil and criminal with 109 civil and 107 criminal appeals disposed. This was the first time in at least the past seven years that the number of dispositions has been so evenly divided. In general, a much larger percentage of civil cases are disposed. Between FY 1975-1976 and FY 1980-1981 the percentage of civil dispositions ranged from 66 percent to 86 percent of the total appeals disposed.

Manner of Disposition: Over the past two fiscal years, the percentages of cases disposed through the various manners of disposition have remained fairly constant. In FY 1980-1981 and in FY 1981-1982 the Supreme Court disposed three out of every four (75 percent) of the appeals it considered by opinion. Approximately 10 percent of the appeal dispositions were by dismissal; slightly more, from 10 to 12 percent, were by transfer; and only a few (less than 5 percent) were disposed by order.

Over the past seven years these patterns of disposition have remained fairly constant with most appeals disposed by opinion and relatively few disposed by order. The percentages disposed by dismissal and transfer have been somewhat variable.

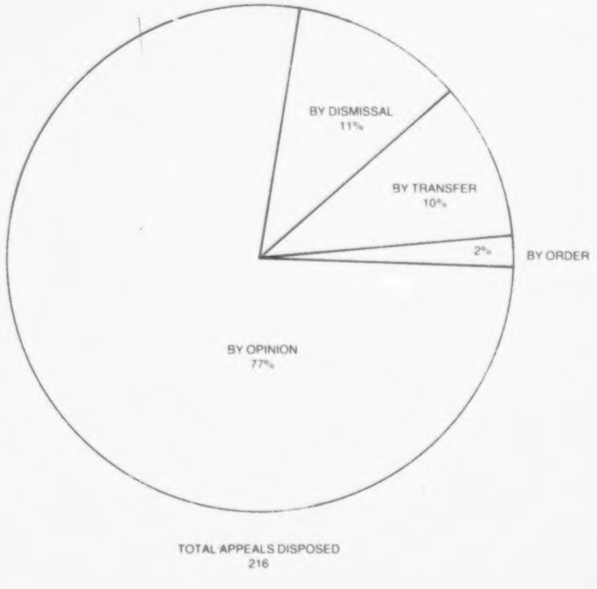
MANNER OF APPEAL DISPOSITIONS
FY 1981-1982



This fiscal year there were differences in the ways that civil and criminal appeals were disposed. For both types of appeal, disposition by opinion was the most frequently reported manner of disposition. However, more than 90 percent (100) of the criminal appeals were disposed by opinion, compared to 61 percent (66) of the civil appeals disposed in this manner. In contrast, more civil appeals were disposed by dismissal, by transfer to the Court of Appeals and by order. Nineteen percent (21) of the civil appeals were dismissed as compared to dismissal of 3 percent (3) of the criminal cases. Dispositions by transfer and by order accounted for 16 percent (17) and 5 percent (5) of the civil dispositions respectively. Only 4 percent (4) of the criminal appeals were transferred and there were no criminal appeals disposed by order during this fiscal year.

The manner of disposition by type of appeal (civil vs. criminal) appears to have changed somewhat over the past few years in the criminal area. Based on trends for the past three years, the court is now tending to dispose a higher percentage of criminal cases by opinion while it is disposing a smaller percentage through transfer. There has not been a marked change in the manner in which civil appeals have been disposed over the past seven years.

WRITS

Since FY 1978-1979, writ activity in Missouri's Supreme Court has grown substantially. Between July 1, 1981 and June 30, 1982, 331 writs were filed in the Supreme Court—29 percent more than the 257 writs filed in the previous fiscal year. In addition, the court disposed 316 writs—an increase of 37 percent.

Filings: Increased filings were seen in four of the major categories of writs considered by the Supreme Court. In FY 1981-1982, 93 writs of mandamus were filed, 29 more than in FY 1980-1981; 81 writs of prohibition were filed, 15 more than in the previous fiscal year and 70 writs of habeas corpus were filed, 12 more than in FY 1980-1981. The number of filings in the "other" category grew by nearly 20 during the period (from 67 to 86), while the number of quo warranto writs dropped from 2 to 1 between this and last fiscal year.

NOTE: Most of the "other" writs are motions for the issuance of a show cause order. These are treated as writs, not motions, because the order is issued in a writ proceeding.

Dispositions: During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1982, the Supreme Court disposed more writs of prohibition than any other kind. There were 92 writs of prohibition disposed this year, compared to 62 in FY 1980-1981. The Supreme Court also disposed 79 writs of mandamus, 19 more than in FY 1980-1981; 63 writs of habeas corpus, 7 more than in FY 1980-1981; and 81 other writs, 30 more than in FY 1980-1981. There was one writ of quo warranto disposed in the 1981-1982 fiscal year, compared to two in FY 1980-1981.

Manner of Disposition: This fiscal year, the court denied 86 percent (272) of the writs it considered, sustained 10 percent (31), and the remaining 4 percent (13) were disposed through other means, including being dismissed, withdrawn or quashed. The percentage of writs denied this year was the highest percentage denied in the last nine years.

ORIGINAL PROCEEDINGS

A total of 497 original proceedings were filed with the court in FY 1981-1982 including applications to transfer, recommendations and certifications from the Court of Appeals and miscellaneous proceedings involving disbarment, applications for reinstatement made by attorneys who are declared incompetent or alleged to be incapacitated, recommendations made by the Commission on Retirement, Removal and Discipline of Judges, and other matters.

A total of 440 applications to transfer were filed this fiscal year—more than half (233) were from the Eastern District Court of Appeals; roughly, one-third (136) originated from the Western District; and the remainder, about 16 percent (71), were from the Southern District. The Supreme Court considered 462 applications to transfer during this fiscal year, denying 420 and sustaining 42.

The number of recommendations and certifications dropped from 58 to 32 from FY 1980-1981 to FY 1981-1982. Of those filed, most (19) came from the Western District; 11 and 2 came from the Eastern and Southern Districts, respectively. Additionally, there were 25 miscellaneous proceedings filed, comprised of 4 disbarments, 8 reinstatements, and 13 others. This was 6 more miscellaneous proceedings than had been filed in the previous fiscal year. The court disposed 23 miscellaneous proceedings, sustaining all of them.

MOTIONS

A total of 676 motions were filed in the Supreme Court during the 1981-1982 fiscal year, 89 (15 percent) more than were filed in the previous fiscal year and more than twice the number that were filed only three years ago (FY 1978-1979). Of the total filed, nearly 100 were motions for rehearing or transfer from the Court of Appeals. Additionally, the Supreme Court disposed 100 motions for rehearing or transfer, overruling 97 and sustaining 3.

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1982, the court disposed 691 motions, 21 percent more than in FY 1980-1981. Since FY 1978-1979, the number of motions disposed in a single fiscal year has increased approximately 135 percent.

COURT OF APPEALS STATISTICAL SUMMARY

All phases of the workload in Missouri's Court of Appeals increased this fiscal year. The court both filed and disposed more appeals, writs and motions than it had in the previous fiscal year.

Appeals and writs are ordinarily disposed by divisions of the court, but looking at the average disposition per judge provides a measure of the rate of disposition as compared to previous years when the number of judges differ. Not only did the disposition rate per judge rise in FY 1981-1982 but the court also improved its disposition to filing ratio. It disposed of 94 percent of the number of filings during the year. This was an increase over the previous year's ratio of 92 percent.

APPEALS

Filings: During FY 1981-1982 a record 2,551 appeals—1,814 civil and 737 criminal—were filed in Missouri's Court of Appeals. This is 124 (5 percent) more appeals than were filed last fiscal year and 735 (40 percent) more than were filed only three years ago. Appeals filed in the past nine years have increased 82 percent with civil appeals filings increasing 101 percent and criminal appeals filings increasing 46 percent.

This is the third consecutive year that total appeals have increased and the fifth consecutive year that civil appeals have increased. The number of criminal appeals dropped in FY 1978-1979 but has risen steadily since then.

Dispositions: A record 2,390 appeals were disposed in the Court of Appeals during FY 1981-1982. This number surpasses the previous year's appeal dispositions by 200 (9 percent). Roughly one quarter (649 or 27 percent) of the appeals disposed were criminal in nature, while three-fourths (1,741 or 73 percent) were civil appeals.

Manner of Disposition: The Court of Appeals disposed the majority (1,353 or 57 percent) of the appeals by opinion. Seventy-eight percent (508) of the criminal appeals and 49 percent (845) of the civil appeals were disposed in this manner. The court dismissed approximately one-fourth (630 or 26 percent) of the appeals it considered. Ten percent (68) of the criminal appeals and 32 percent (562) of the civil appeals were disposed by dismissal.

A total of 42 (2 percent) appeals were disposed by transfer, while 142 (6 percent) were disposed by consolidation. The court disposed 223 (9 percent) of the appeals it considered through other means.

Pending Caseload: The Court of Appeals began the 1981-1982 fiscal year with 2,354 appeals pending. By the end of the fiscal year, the number stood at 2,515, an increase of 161 (7 percent). Transcripts were due or in preparation in 1,103 (44 percent) of the pending appeals. Another 671 (27 percent) of the appeals were pending while awaiting the appellant's or respondent's briefs. An almost equal number, 690 (27 percent) were either ready for submission or under submission to the court. The remaining 51 (2 percent) had opinions handed down but were awaiting mandates.

The status of pending appeals is dependent on a number of interim transactions—transcripts filed, of which there were 1,513; appellant's and respondent's briefs filed, of which there were 1,368 and 1,306, respectively; and the number of appeals under submission to the court, which totalled 1,464.

WRITS

Filings: There were 413 writs filed in the Court of Appeals this year, 20 more than were filed in FY 1980-1981. FY 1979-1980 was the only year in the past nine to have more writs filed than were filed in FY 1981-1982.

There has been a gradual increase in the number of writs filed over the past nine years in Missouri's Court of Appeals. Since FY 1973-1974 the number of writs filed has increased an average of 27 writs per year. Should past trends continue, an estimated 440 writs will be filed in the Court of Appeals in FY 1982-1983 and 470 will be filed in FY 1983-1984.

Of the writs filed this year, 245 (59 percent) were writs of prohibition, which allege that lower courts or tribunals are exceeding their jurisdiction. Historically, there have been more writs of prohibition than either writs of mandamus or writs of habeas corpus filed. The three types of writs were fairly equally filed during FY 1973-1974 through FY 1975-1976. Since FY 1975-1976, however, writs of prohibition have substantially out-numbered the other two. Writs of mandamus, which command that a particular act or duty be performed, accounted for 103 (25 percent) of the writs filed in FY 1981-1982. Overall, 61 (15 percent) of the writs filed in the Court of Appeals were writs of habeas corpus. A writ of habeas corpus is designed to determine whether or not a person is being held illegally. Only about 1 percent of the writs filed in the Court of Appeals this fiscal year were writs of certiorari which, if granted, require a lower court to produce a certified record of a particular case, and quo warranto, designed to halt the continued exercise of power that does not belong to the individual.

Dispositions: The Court of Appeals disposed 402 writs this fiscal year, almost exactly the same as the number disposed in FY 1980-1981. Only in FY 1979-1980 have more writs been disposed in a single fiscal year than were disposed in FY 1981-1982.

Manner of Disposition: Missouri's Court of Appeals denied 341 (85 percent) of the petitions for writs it disposed in FY 1981-1982. The remaining dispositions were fairly evenly split between dispositions by order, (31 or 8 percent) and dispositions by opinion (30 or 7 percent). This distribution varies somewhat from that reported in FY 1980-1981 when 47 percent of the dispositions were by order; 39 percent of the writs disposed were denied and the remainder, some 14 percent, were disposed by opinion.

Pending Caseload: The number of pending writs increased from 13 to 24 between July 1, 1981 and June 30, 1982. Of those left pending when the fiscal year closed, however, 7 were either ready for or under submission to the court for disposition.

MOTIONS

The number of motions filed increased in each district of the Court of Appeals for a total of 7,345. This represents a 7 percent increase in motion filings over the previous year. Dispositions kept pace and increased 8 percent. The districts disposed of 7,361 motions in the 1981-1982 fiscal year.

CIRCUIT COURT STATISTICAL SUMMARY

Nearly 740,000 cases were filed in the Circuit Court in FY 1981-1982, including 111,531 circuit division criminal and civil cases heard under full rules of circuit procedure, 17,671 juvenile cases, 596,845 associate circuit cases, and 13,697 probate cases. The overall caseload total includes, for the first time, municipal ordinance violations heard by associate circuit judges that are filed directly into the associate divisions and mental health proceedings heard and determined by probate judges.

The total number of cases filed in the Circuit Court was comprised of 55 percent traffic, 28 percent civil including small claims, 13 percent criminal, 2 percent juvenile and 2 percent probate.

The number of dispositions in the Circuit Court also increased during FY 1981-1982 to almost 700,000. The dispositions equated exactly with the percentage of filings; that is traffic cases constituted the majority of dispositions, followed by civil, criminal, juvenile and probate.

Refinements in uniform case reporting definitions during FY 1981-1982 have clarified many of the Circuit Court's caseload and disposition categories, and more complete information is available in this report than has been available in past years.

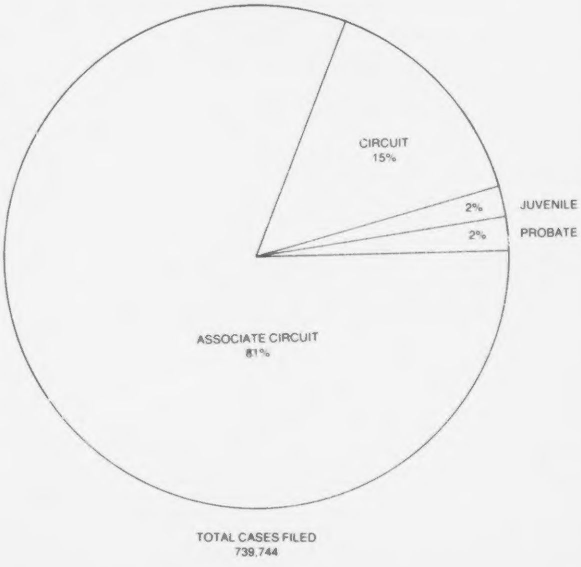
CIRCUIT COURT FILINGS BY DIVISION FY 1981-1982



CIRCUIT DIVISION

Filings: There were 88,863 circuit division civil cases filed in Missouri's courts in FY 1981-1982. A total of 22,668 circuit division criminal cases were filed during the same time, bringing the total civil and criminal filings to 111,531.

The number of circuit division civil and criminal cases filed in FY 1980-1981 totalled 119,819, which is 8,288 (7 percent) more than the number filed this year. Much of the decrease between the two years can be explained by the definitions in case reporting and instructions which took effect July 1, 1981.

Even though filings decreased from FY 1980-1981 to FY 1981-1982, a profile of civil and criminal filings over a number of years represents a generally increasing workload. Between FY 1972-1973 and FY 1980-1981, circuit division civil and criminal filings increased 54 percent. Criminal filings have increased quite gradually over the past ten years while civil filings in comparison have grown dramatically, especially since FY 1976-1977. Should past trends continue, circuit division civil and criminal case filings could increase to 118,000 in FY 1982-1983 and to 124,000 in FY 1983-1984.

Dispositions: Missouri's trial court disposed 105,642 circuit division cases this fiscal year; 83,845 (79 percent) were civil and 21,797 (21 percent) were criminal.

On the average, there were 859 dispositions per circuit judge in Missouri's Circuit Court this fiscal year, the second largest average number of dispositions per judge in the history of the judiciary. (The average in FY 1980-1981 was 885). An average dispositional rate in FY 1981-1982 would include 682 civil dispositions and 177 criminal dispositions.

NOTE: The dispositions per judge exclude circuit division judges who primarily hear probate cases (a total of nine circuit judges) and do not take into account cases heard on assignment by the probate or associate circuit judges.

Disposition/Filing Ratio: When the number of dispositions is divided by the filings, the result is a disposition to filing ratio of .95. In other words, approximately 95 percent of the number of cases filed were disposed. The .95 ratio is the highest ratio since FY 1977-1978, representing the concerted efforts of the court to maintain pace with its workload.

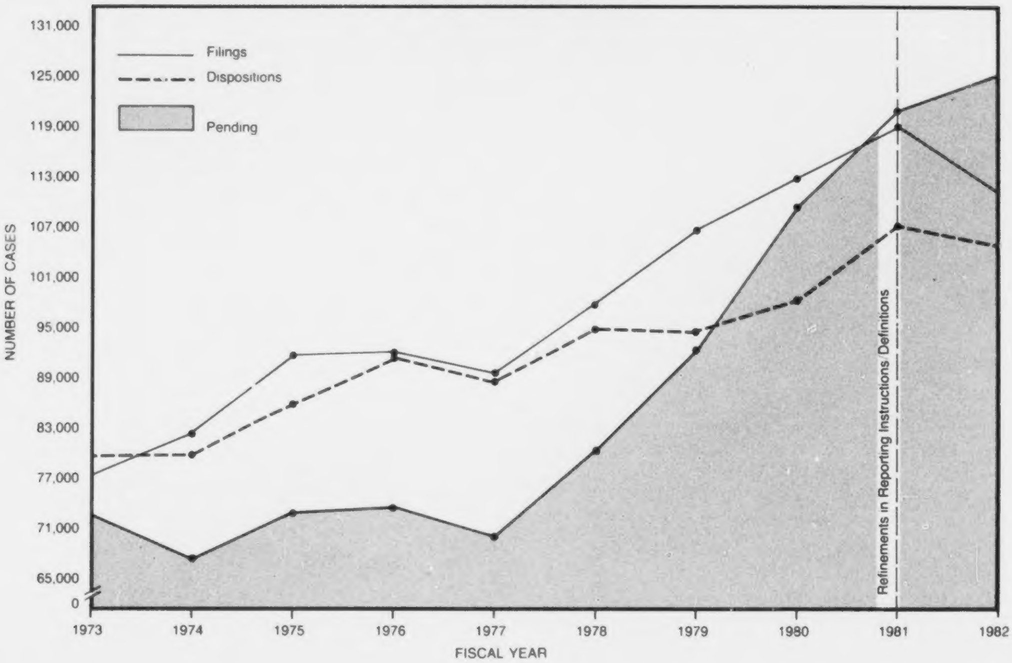
CIRCUIT DIVISION
TEN-YEAR WORKLOAD SUMMARY
FY 1972-1973 through FY 1981-1982



Pending Caseload: There were 119,497 circuit division civil and criminal cases pending when FY 1981-1982 began. The Circuit Court ended the fiscal year with 125,386 civil and criminal cases pending, an increase of 5 percent, and a pending to disposition ratio of 1.19. This ratio indicates that for each case that was disposed there was just over one case in the pending balance to be disposed at a later date. It also suggests that if these pending cases were disposed at the same rate as those disposed in FY 1981-1982 and if no new cases were added to the workload, it could be expected to take 1.19 years (about 14 months) to dispose all of the pending cases.

In general, the criminal pending to disposition ratio is lower than the civil pending to disposition ratio, due to statutory requirements that a trial be started within 180 days of arraignment if a plea of not guilty has been entered at the arraignment. For the 1981-1982 fiscal year, the ratio for the criminal workload was .73 compared to 1.31 for the civil workload.

CIVIL

When the 88,863 circuit division cases filed in this fiscal year are added to the cases pending when the fiscal year began (104,502), the Circuit Court had 193,365 civil cases for disposition. Between July 1, 1981 and June 30, 1982, 83,845 civil cases were disposed leaving 109,520 civil cases pending at the end of the year, an increase of 5 percent.

Manner of Disposition: More than half—46,592 or 56 percent—of the civil cases disposed this fiscal year were disposed by trial—1,128 by jury trial and 45,464 by court trial. Another 31,833 (38 percent) were dismissed and 5,420 (6 percent) were disposed through a change of venue or through other manners of disposition including removal to a federal court and consolidation.

Dispositions by Class of Case: An estimated two-thirds (56,560) of the civil cases disposed in the circuit division this fiscal year were domestic relations cases. Most of these (40,755) were dissolution of marriage cases and motions to modify. Together, these case types accounted for 48 percent of the total civil dispositions. This percentage has remained relatively constant over the past ten years, at about 50 percent. Just over one-fourth (22,488 or 27 percent) of the civil cases disposed this fiscal year involved tort, contract, eminent domain and miscellaneous civil actions. Another 4,797 (6 percent) were equitable actions.

CRIMINAL

This year's 22,668 circuit division criminal filings, including municipal appeals (quasi-criminal), were slightly less than the record 23,052 cases filed in FY 1980-1981. Dispositions between this year and last increased 6 percent, from 20,485 to 21,797. The Circuit Court began the fiscal year with 14,518 active criminal cases pending which increased 6 percent to 15,328 by the end of the fiscal year.

Manner of Disposition: Of the circuit division criminal cases disposed, 11,954 (55 percent) were disposed through the acceptance of a guilty plea. Additionally, 1,041 (5 percent) were disposed by a jury trial; 2,995 (14 percent) were disposed by a court trial; 2,374 (11 percent) were dismissed by the prosecutor; 2,198 (10 percent) were dismissed by the court; 670 (3 percent) were disposed through a change of venue and 565 (3 percent) were disposed through other means.

Since FY 1972-1973 the percentage of criminal cases disposed through the various manners of disposition has remained constant except for trials by court. During the mid 1970's, trials by court averaged 7-8 percent of the total criminal dispositions. By the 1980's, that percentage had almost doubled.

Dispositions by Class of Case: The majority of the criminal cases disposed were felonies (69 percent) which is consistent with past trends. In addition, approximately 17 percent of the dispositions were municipal appeals (quasi-criminal), 6 percent were misdemeanors, 2 percent were felonies reduced to misdemeanors and 6 percent were other case types.

JUVENILE DIVISION

In FY 1981-1982 there were slight increases in both juvenile case filings and dispositions in comparison to the previous fiscal year. Juvenile filings totalled 17,671, an increase of less than 1 percent while dispositions increased by 4 percent over FY 1980-1981 for a total of 18,087. Over the past ten years juvenile filings have increased from 16,437 in FY 1972-1973 to 17,671 in FY 1981-1982 although the number of juvenile filings has varied significantly from year to year. In FY 1978-1979 juvenile filings had decreased to 17,293, increased to 21,053 in FY 1979-1980, declined again to 17,596 in FY 1980-1981 before increasing again this fiscal year.

For the first time since FY 1975-1976 juvenile dispositions exceeded filings for a disposition to filing ratio of 1.02. The result was a decrease from 8,716 pending juvenile cases at the beginning of the year to 8,300 pending juvenile cases at the end of the year, a decrease of 5 percent.

As a result of the new reporting requirements, the types of juvenile allegations and the manner of disposition are available for the last six months of FY 1981-1982. The cases filed from January through June 1982 included 8,836 separate juvenile allegations. Thirty-nine percent of the allegations were violations of state law or municipal ordinances, 24 percent were child abuse or neglect, 16 percent were status offenses (offenses that apply to juveniles only and would not be an offense if committed by an adult), 15 percent were adoptions and 5 percent were termination of parental rights.

Of the 8,860 juvenile dispositions that occurred during the last six months of FY 1981-1982, 43 percent were disposed through uncontested hearings, 17 percent were dismissed without a hearing, 15 percent were disposed through contested hearings, 14 percent were adoption hearings, 6 percent were transferred to another jurisdiction, 5 percent were hearings on termination of parental rights, while just under 1 percent of the dispositions were as a result of certification to adult court.

ASSOCIATE CIRCUIT DIVISION

Almost 600,000 cases were filed into the associate circuit division during FY 1981-1982 including civil actions involving a controversy of $5,000 or less, small claims, felony complaints, misdemeanors and infractions, state traffic violations and municipal traffic and ordinance violation cases.

Filings: Of the 596,845 cases filed, 115,347 (19 percent) were civil in nature. The civil caseload was comprised of 16,929 (3 percent) small claims filings involving an amount of $500 or less while the remaining 98,418 (16 percent) civil actions in the associate circuit division involved a controversy that did not exceed $5,000. There were a total of 69,624 criminal cases filed (12 percent of total filings) of which 27,246 (5 percent) were felony case filings and 42,378 (7 percent) were misdemeanor case filings. Traffic cases totalled 384,618 (64 percent) while 27,256 (5 percent) municipal cases which include county ordinance violations in St. Louis County were filed directly into the associate circuit division.

In the associate circuit division, there were 12,455 less filings (2 percent decrease) in FY 1981-1982 than there were the previous fiscal year. Civil case filings declined by 6 percent (5,748), felony filings declined 9 percent (2,816) and misdemeanor and traffic filings both declined by 1 percent (561 less misdemeanor filings and 4,149 traffic filings). Small claims filings increased by 5 percent or 819 cases. Comparisons do not include municipal cases heard by the associate circuit division judges since information for these cases is only available for FY 1981-1982.

This is the first year in the past four that there has been a decrease in the number of filings statewide, which may be due to improvements in the uniform case reporting procedures rather than an actual decrease in caseload. Small claims and traffic filings both increased by 27 percent in the past four years while civil and misdemeanor filings increased by 17 and 5 percent, respectively. Felony filings have remained constant during the four-year period. The total number of cases filed in FY 1978-1979 was 469,148 and increased to a total of 569,589 filings this year (excluding municipal), an overall increase of 21 percent.

*Totals do not include municipal cases heard by associate division judges.

Dispositions: The associate circuit division disposed 562,529 cases or about 94 percent of the number of cases filed. Of the 106,248 civil cases disposed, 91,137 (16 percent of total dispositions) were civil actions filed under Chapter 517 and 15,111 small claims cases. In the criminal area 25,235 felony cases were disposed and there were 39,293 misdemeanor dispositions during the fiscal year. The associate circuit division disposed 368,911 traffic cases which represented 66 percent of all cases disposed in the associate circuit division. There were 22,842 (4 percent) municipal cases disposed by the associate circuit division during the fiscal year.

While FY 1981-1982 filings decreased from the previous fiscal year, dispositions remained constant with only 137 fewer cases disposed this year than in FY 1980-1981. There was an increase in the number of dispositions for small claims (13 percent), misdemeanor (less than 1 percent) and traffic (1 percent). FY 1981-1982 civil and felony dispositions decreased, 2 and 12 percent respectively from the previous fiscal year.

Disposition/Filing Ratio: As a result of the slight drop in filings, the disposition to filing ratio climbed to .94 in FY 1981-1982 from .93 in the previous fiscal year. This increase marked the fourth straight year that the associate circuit division has improved the number of cases disposed compared to the number of cases filed. Traffic cases had the highest proportion of dispositions to filings at .96, an increase from .94 in FY 1980-1981.

The disposition to filing ratio also increased for misdemeanors, associate civil, and small claims cases. The ratio for misdemeanors increased from .91 to .93, associate civil increased from .89 to .93 and small claims cases increased significantly from .83 to .89. After a substantial increase from .83 in FY 1979-1980 to .95 in FY 1980-1981 the felony disposition to filing ratio decreased slightly to .93 in FY 1981-1982. The disposition to filing ratio in FY 1981-1982 for municipal cases heard by the associate circuit division was .84, the first year information has been available for such cases.

Pending Caseload: At the beginning of FY 1981-1982, 217,455 associate circuit division cases were pending. By the end of the fiscal year pending cases increased by 16 percent to 251,771. Small claims cases saw the greatest percent increase in pending cases (34 percent) from 5,286 cases to 7,104 cases. Traffic pending caseload increased by 19 percent, pending felony cases increased by 13 percent, while misdemeanor and civil pending caseloads both climbed by 10 percent. Pending caseload for municipal cases filed directly into the associate circuit division increased by 39 percent from the beginning to the end of the year. For FY 1981-1982 the pending to disposition ratio was .45 which indicates that the number of pending cases at the end of the fiscal year was approximately 45 percent of the number of cases disposed for the year. This ratio also suggests that if these pending cases were disposed at the same rate as those disposed in FY 1981-1982 and if no new cases were added to the workload, it could be expected to take .45 years (five to six months) to dispose all of the pending cases.

Manner of Disposition: During FY 1981-1982 the associate circuit division disposed 562,529 cases. For civil and small claims cases there are five manners of disposition including certified (to the circuit division), trial by court, judgment without trial, dismissal without trial and change of venue. Over 56 percent (51,037) of the civil cases were disposed by a judgment without trial and 30 percent (27,341) were dismissed without a trial. There were 10,025 civil cases (11 percent) disposed by a trial by court. For small claims cases the three most significant manners of disposition were dismissal without a trial (5,289 or 35 percent), trial by court (5,138 or 34 percent) and default judgments (4,382 or 29 percent). Change of venue and cases certified combined for 2 percent of the small claims dispositions.

In the associate circuit division about 42 percent (10,599) of the 25,235 felony dispositions were dismissed without a trial. Over one-third (9,842 or 39 percent) were bound over to the circuit division after a preliminary hearing was either held or waived by the defendant. In the associate circuit division a felony charge may also be reduced to a misdemeanor and a guilty plea accepted. This occurred in approximately 18 percent (4,542) of the felony cases disposed at the associate circuit division level. One percent of the dispositions were the result of a change of venue.

Associate circuit division misdemeanor cases may be disposed in a variety of manners which include cases certified to the circuit division, trial by court, cases handled by a traffic violations bureau, cases where a plea of guilty is entered in open court, guilty pleas other than those made in open court, cases dismissed without a trial and by change of venue. Of the 39,293 misdemeanor cases disposed, 15,756 (40 percent) were disposed through a guilty plea in open court and another 6,501 (17 percent) were other guilty pleas. There were 3,481 (9 percent) misdemeanors tried by the court in the associate circuit division while about 11,937 (30 percent) were dismissed without a trial.

Traffic and municipal cases tried by associate circuit judges have the same categories of disposition as misdemeanor cases. Over two-thirds of the 391,753 traffic and municipal cases were disposed through a guilty plea. Seventeen percent were disposed through a traffic violations bureau and 8 percent were dismissed without a trial. The remaining 5 percent were disposed through trial by court (3 percent), certification (1 percent) or change of venue (1 percent). Note that while this report covers all municipal cases filed directly into the associate circuit division to be heard by associate circuit judges, it does not include thousands of municipal cases heard by municipal judges in the municipalities.

PROBATE DIVISION

In FY 1981-1982 a total of 13,697 probate cases were filed and 13,467 were disposed including decedents' estates, incompetents' estates, minors' estates and mental health proceedings. The number of pending cases remained constant with 33,453 cases pending at the beginning of the fiscal year and 33,683 cases pending at the end of the year (an increase of 1 percent).

FIVE-YEAR WORKLOAD SUMMARY

Of the 13,697 probate cases filed, 8,227 (60 percent) were decedents' estates. Under new provisions in Missouri's probate laws, decedents' estates may be filed under the supervision of the court or they may be handled through independent administration. In FY 1981-1982 there were 7,489 decedents' estates filed under supervised administration and 738 were filed through the new provisions for independent administration. There were a total of 2,121 (15 percent) incompetents' estates opened; 1,569 involved a guardianship of personal assets. Minors' estates accounted for 1,099 (8 percent) of the total filings, of which 789 involved a guardianship of personal assets. There were 2,250 (16 percent) mental health proceedings filed including petitions for a 21-day, 90-day or 1-year detention and treatment period as provided under Missouri's statutes.

The probate divisions closed 11,301 estate cases and disposed of 2,166 mental health proceedings for a total of 13,467 dispositions. Decedents' estates accounted for 8,715 (65 percent) of the dispositions, of which 8,549 were filed under supervised administration and 166 were through independent administration. There were 1,454 (11 percent) dispositions of incompetents' estates, 1,132 (8 percent) dispositions of minors' estates and 2,166 (16 percent) mental health proceedings were heard during FY 1981-1982.

Both decedents' estates and minors' estates pending caseloads were reduced during the fiscal year. Pending decedents' estates were reduced from 16,918 to 16,430 (3 percent) and pending minors' estates fell slightly from 6,103 to 6,070 (1 percent). The pending caseload for incompetents' estates rose from 9,705 to 10,372 during the year (7 percent) and pending mental health proceedings rose from 727 to 811 (12 percent).

Statewide there appeared to be decreases in filings from last fiscal year to this fiscal year for decedents' estates (6 percent) and minors' and incompetents' estates (9 percent). Similarly, decedents' estates dispositions showed a decrease of 2 percent and minors' and incompetents' estates dispositions showed a decrease of about 13 percent. Despite these decreases from the previous fiscal year, the long-range trend from FY 1977-1978 to the present has shown an increase in both total estate filings and dispositions. Possibly the decrease in decedents' estates filings is due to provisions in Missouri's new probate code which increased the dollar limit on small estate affidavits from $5,000 to $15,000. Increases that are probably reflective of this change in the law are noted by the number of small estate affidavits which rose 46 percent from 1,752 to 2,566 this year. Revisions in Missouri's tax laws have made it less burdensome to own property jointly which also could result in fewer decedents' estates filings.

In addition to caseload information, probate divisions reported the following abbreviated matters; 2,079 creditor refusal of letters, 3,907 mental health applications (Department of Mental Health Forms 128 and 132), 2,566 small estates affidavits and 3,801 spouse or minor refusal of letters.
